

Certificate in Holistic Integrated Creative Arts Therapy (HICAT) – Online

Turn Your Creative Spark into a Healing Career

If you've ever felt drawn to helping others but didn't want a clinical path — or if you're already in the wellness space and want to deepen your toolkit — HICAT offers a powerful, joyful way forward.

This course integrates art therapy principles with holistic practices, empowering you to guide others through emotional healing, personal development, and transformation using creativity and play.

This internationally industry-accredited course is your opportunity to blend art, dance, drama, sculpture, sand-play, sound therapy, music, movement, meditation, storytelling, and more into a transformative healing modality that supports others — and deeply enriches your own life.

What Makes HICAT Unique?

Unlike many online “art therapy” or “creative wellness” courses, HICAT is:

- Comprehensive, Multi-Modality Training
You’ll explore creative arts therapy, sound healing, movement, drama, meditation, sand play, mask making, journaling, and more — all in a trauma-sensitive, client empowering way.
- No Need for a Psychology Degree
Unlike clinical art therapy pathways that require years of university study, HICAT offers an accessible yet professional path into therapeutic work through holistic and creative approaches.
- Flexible Career Options
Run your own private sessions, teach classes and workshops, run retreats, work with children or elders, support trauma survivors, or integrate HICAT into other practices like yoga, education, social work, or coaching.
- Create Financial Security While Helping Others
HICAT gives you the tools to build a self-employed business that reflects your passions. You choose how to work, where, and with whom — and you determine your income. There are so many avenues to diversify and grow a stable, meaningful business.
- Support That Empowers You
With live classes, a rich online learning portal, downloadable client tools, a supportive community, and expert guidance — you’re never alone. And we keep supporting you after graduation with business mentoring, resources, and a growing practitioner network.
- Fully industry-accredited — you’ll graduate with a recognised qualification.
- Eligible for professional insurance and industry association membership.

Accreditation That Opens Doors

This course is internationally industry accredited by the International Institute for Complementary Therapists (IICT) and other peak bodies. This means:

- You're eligible for professional indemnity and public liability insurance
- You can legally practice as a Holistic Creative Arts Therapist in Australia and many other countries
- You can join industry associations for professional credibility
- Your clients, employers, and community will see your qualification as professional and trustworthy

Far too many students finish “courses” that don’t qualify them to work, can’t get insurance, or are rejected by associations. This course protects your time and investment by ensuring you have everything you need to succeed.

A Career That's Creative, Healing, and Impactful

After graduating, you'll be qualified to:

- Offer 1:1 or group creative therapy sessions.
- Create and deliver your own wellbeing programs or workshops.
- Work with children, adults, the elderly, or those experiencing trauma or stress.
- Run retreats, support groups, or online programs that change lives.

This work is especially rewarding for those who feel a deep calling to help others but don't want to work within rigid medical systems or pursue years of university study.
